

CIMA LOUNGE Collection

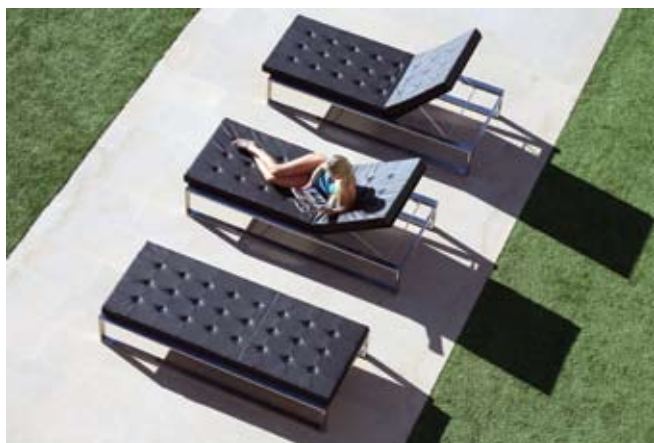

Designer Hendrik Steenbakkers

NEW 2011 - Cima Siësta Lounger

A real eye catcher is the CIMA lounge collection, designed by Henry Steenbakkers. This collection, with the sober looking no-nonsense design with extra attention for comfort is built for years of comfort. The most striking characteristic of this lounge furniture is the minimalist design, the square shape of the stainless steel frame with a seemingly floating appearance. Despite the robust frame and build the pieces maintain a very contemporary minimalist design.

Entirely new to this collection is the Siesta Lounge. This king size lounger is the latest addition to this collection and is arguably one of the largest beds in the market. The square stainless steel frame has hidden wheels to make ensure that the bed is easily movable despite its broad dimensions. The seat, with its simply adjustable back, seems to float between the robust frame and horizontal lines. For a more luxurious feeling Siesta Lounge is also available with matching cushions. These cushions are available in both acrylic and synthetic leather versions, in black, white and cendre.

The Cima Siesta Lounger is part the broader collection where each piece of furniture is designed to compliment each other. The seat height from the Poltrona or Banca Lounge for example, is the same as the height of the Siesta lounger. The clean lines of the collection can be continued to make an L-shape with the Siesta Lounge when also used as a luxury king ottoman. It is also possible to use the sun loungers next to each other creating a large comfortable outdoor bed created for the ultimate comfort experience.
